Program

JD introduced our speaker, Odysseus Andrianos.

Ody visited us earlier this year and he spoke on the topic of fitness. Now he returns to discuss his film studio and how video is taking over the world with movies, media and money.

His father was a sound producer in television and he grew up on video sets like desperate housewives and the wonder years.

Ody owns a Film Studio called Agamemnon. You can get more information on Agafilmstudio.com.

The purpose of this presentation. is to educate us on how videos can automate your business, inspire us on how we can create videos and how we can use them on-line, and share some secrets from his own experiences from the film industry that may help us get started in video.

Why do on line videos? Who has had a concept or idea that could change the world? Ody has personally been with people like Oprah, Francis Ford Coppola and has seen these people change the world with their video concepts. Videos should be making money for your business in your sleep.

Videos can go viral and help get your concept out to the world. U-tube videos and Twitter and other social media are some ways to get you message out. Tony Shannon explained to us that Crowd Funding is way to get funding for upstart companies or selling a new concept. This is done through social media. Using video on your web-site is a great way to utilize video. U-tube in the #2 search engine in the world. 64% of buyers buy through video advertising.

The word Hollywood comes from the a term magician's wand.
